Teens talk out their stress

The sun shined through on Kessler field, July 29, during the Teen Summer Stress Buster. Approximately 50 teens attended the event and were educated on how to combat stressors that can affect them when living in a military environment. They also had the opportunity to meet other teens.

"I experienced a lot of things like how to relieve myself from stress and have confidence and how to defend myself," said Keyion Laws, 14, a ninth-grader from Bamberg high school.

The Family Advocacy Program and Army Community Service hosted the event. Read more here.

conservation tip #32

Washing dishes

An automatic dishwasher uses less hot water than doing dishes by hand - an average of six gallons less, or more than 2,000 gallons per year. To conserve your own energy, just have your kids do the dishes.

Officers from the Armed Forces of the Slovak Republic recently visited U.S. Army Garrison Schweinfurt. Read more here.
