Schweinfurt's training center just got better

By Nathan Van Schaik

Schweinfurt's Training Support Center recently added another state of the art simulator to its already robust collection aimed at training Soldiers prior to deployment. The trainer is specifically designed to sharpen Soldiers' skills behind the wheel of mine-resistant, ambush-protected (MRAP) vehicles.

The MRAP Egress Trainer, or MET, provides crewmembers the confidence needed to safely egress the vehicle and has proven to reduce injuries caused by rollovers, according to John Melin, the MET instructor and operator in Schweinfurt.
